

Building a better working world

How do you build confidence to achieve desired transformation outcomes?

EY Transformation Delivery Activator (EY TDA)

The better the question. The better the answer. The better the world works.

In today's fast-changing environment, organizations are under pressure to improve efficiency, encourage collaboration, and safeguard data while managing diverse projects and programs. Many organizations struggle with outdated project management tools, manual processes and fragmented systems.

Recognizing the increasing requirement for projects to deliver at pace – within timeline, scope and cost, the use of a digital project management tool is quickly emerging as a standard practice.

EY Transformation Delivery Activator (EY TDA)

EY TDA is a digital tool – bringing together better project management services in an environment which supports accelerated service – supporting the right people to make the right decisions at the right time. EY TDA provides easy-to-use and quick-to-apply project and portfolio management capabilities to instantly support transformation initiatives.

Elevating project management excellence in a digital era

EY TDA is a digital tool designed to manage the delivery of transformation programs, projects and portfolios in one place, enabled by real-time collaboration. It addresses the challenges of siloed ways of working, single source of truth and standardization.

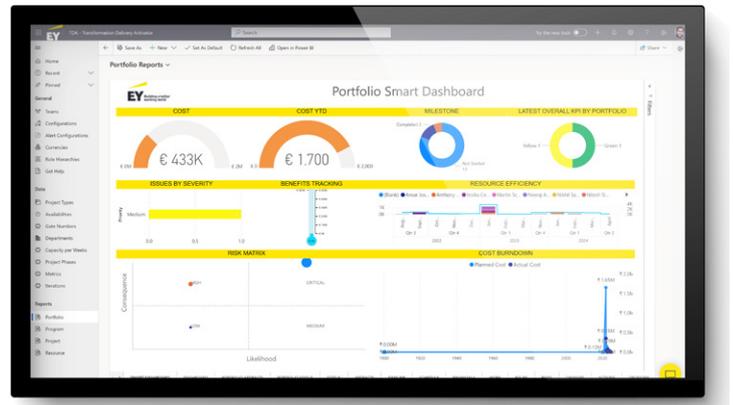

EY TDA empowers organizations to drive consistency across their portfolio, and streamline processes to garner insight, which enables data-driven decision-making and in turn protects delivery.

The simple and intuitive-to-use tool enhances the delivery experience to achieve desired outcome.
